

at the end thereof, these words, "or any other of the United States' ships of War during the late war."

And, on the question. "will the house agree to this amendment?"

It was decided in the negative.

The question was then put, "will the house adopt the said order?"

And it was determined in the negative.

Mr. Steele moved for an adjournment.

And the question thereon, being taken,

It was determined in the negative.

On motion by Mr. Evans, the resolutions submitted by him yesterday, purporting to be expressive of the sense of the Legislature of the gallant conduct during the late war, of David Geisinger, a native of this State, and a Captain in the United States' Navy; and directing a sword to be presented to him, were taken up for consideration, read the second time, by a special order unanimously assented to, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

On motion by Mr. McMahon,

The House adjourned until Monday morning, ten o'clock.

THURSDAY, January 21st, 1830.

The House met at ten o'clock, pursuant to adjournment; and the roll being called over—were present, the same members as on yesterday; the proceedings of which were read.

On motion by Mr. Gantt,

The message proposed by him on the 15th instant, in reply to that received from the Senate, respecting the appointment of a proper person to be recommended to the Governor to be commissioned as Register of Wills for Prince George's county, was taken up for consideration; and being again read, Mr. Gantt offered as a substitute therefor, the following message, viz

By the House of Delegates,

January 21st, 1830.

Gentlemen of the Senate,

We have received your message, proposing to go into the appointment of a proper person to be recommended to the Governor for commission, as Register of Wills for Prince George's county, on this day, at 12 o'clock, and accede thereto. Messrs. — and — are put in nomination by this House, and we have appointed Messrs. — and —
